

I believe that the Wisconsin no-call list should be left to function on it's own if not made even stricter. If I am in need of services, I will seek out those that can provide those services. I do not need any business hounding me over and over for a product or service that I do not want or need. I would actually like to see this expanded to include the mail and political phone calls, especially pre-recorded messages.

Thank You,
